

A Caring Biological Father:

Critical Link to Improving the Health of Children

This fact sheet was prepared by Men's Health America, PO Box 1404, Rockville, MD 20849. Telephone 301-670-1964. www.egroups.com/group/menshealth/.

References: 1. Whitehead BF. Facing the Challenges of Fragmented Families. The Philanthropy Roundtable 1995; 9: 21. 2. Eberstadt N. America's Infant Mortality Puzzle. The Public Interest Fall, 1991. 3. Kleinman JC, Kessel SS. Racial Differences in Low Birth Weight. New England Journal of Medicine 1987; 317: 749-753. 4. Lester D. Infant Mortality and Illegitimacy. Social Science and Medicine 1992; 35: 739-740. 5. Dawson DA. Family Structure and Children's Health and Well-Being. Journal of Marriage and the Family 1991; 53: 573-584. 6. Johnson RA, Haffman JP, Gerstein DR. The Relationship between Family Structure and Adolescent Substance Use. Washington, DC: DHHS, 1996. 7. Smith L. The New Wave of Illegitimacy. Fortune 1994; 18: 81-94. Chart: US Bureau of the Census, Marital Status and Living Arrangements: March 1990. Current Population Report, p. 20, Washington, DC, 1993.